TOWNE ALKE

"Just for Fun"

By RAS BERRY

Dear Ras:

Welcome back to our city! How you missed you! Did we not Page you in our be-Beve-mat?

I've been saving this one for you: One of the native Torran-tulas, a Brooklyn boy, was asked what play one of the classes was giving. He responded "The Rolled Down Stocking." The teacher was quite shocked, and, upon investigation, discovered that the title had been whispered to him and he had mistaken the title of "The Whole Town's Talking."

Heard this at Long Beach the evening of July 4th, during the fireworks display: Dum-dora—"Go get mamma quick! She'll like this! She likes bright things! She likes electric signs!" THE BAT.

Last yr. when the bus mgr. took his vacation why we done more job pfg. business than we ever done before or since. But he got even while I was countin states and got out better papers than I ever hope to slide up to the public.

That dawg I brings from Mich. why he gets out of the garage each side, Monday morning and ain't been seen since. Anybody seeing a black pup about a foot and a half high, not quite that high maybe.

So no matter who you are why you can be got along without.

The demon reporter says this morning they ain't been so many scraps on the office floor in three weeks and I says well whonell expects there to be any scraps in a newspaper office when the editor's away.

Well I wet nurses a dawg all the way from Mich. to Torrance and I gives it to the boss at our house and when we gets home why there is two dawgs setting on the front porch and now we have got three dawgs and a expectant cat and one of the dawgs we is boarding for Doc Shidder while he is over to Catalina and I hope he comes home pretty soon.

Doll Har sure done noble while I was away and I kinda think Hurum proves that he made a big mistake when he goes into the hardware business instead of running a colyum.

Advice to vacationists: When you go on a vacation why arrange it so you get back the last wk. of the mo. instead of the 1st wk. By the last wk. some of the bills will have been mislaid together with your-note-is-due-and-what-are-you-going-to-do-about-it notices.

You glow in Chicago, perspire in Kansas, sweat in Colorado, sweeter in New Mexico and roast in Arizona and by the time you hit Los Angeles you is done to a crisp and you set in a car and slide down Western ave. and you reach Torrance and that there breeze gallops in from China and Oh Boy Ain't it a glorious feelin'?

Everybody in town pretty near has gone on a fishing trip including Fred Palmer. Fred is after trout and being a aeroplaner why I suppose he took along plenty of flies.

While I was in Flint why the collud janitor of a bank building he come up to his boss and says I wanna get off tomorrow to go down to Detroit and cross the river to Windsor and try out some of that four point four and the boss says O. K. go ahead. And in a couple days the janitor comes back and the boss says well how was the four point four and the janitor says well I didn't get no four point four and the boss says why didn't you go to Windsor and the janitor says No I didn't make Windsor where they has that four point four because I was detained in Detroit by some eight point eight.

Wallace Gilbert come in and he says well how d'ye do and did you have a good time and I says I'll tell the cockeyed world I had a good time and he says yes and I guess you wouldn't want to put it all in the paper neither would you and right away I seen what was Wallace's idea of a vacation.

That dawg I brings from Mich. why he gets out of the garage each side, Monday morning and ain't been seen since. Anybody seeing a black pup about a foot and a half high, not quite that high maybe.

and with short hair and a long tail and a white spot on his breast and white on the rear of both front feet why please let me know because that dawg is the only present I brought home and after nursing her across the continent why I sorta got to love that dawg.—Adv.

Thank Hurum and Rufus.

Never mind that adv. about the dawg. After I wrote the free adv. why somebody called up at 7 a. m. and says your dawg is down to the Columbia Steel by the entrance gate. And we goes down and sure enough there she was setting near Jimmie Wolfe so I brought her home and give her a long lecture on the importance of not running around with bad company.

Hurum believes in that there adage that the olly bold gets the worm, I guess, because he has got a Santa Claus in his window already advertising some merchandise.

Hurum tells me about the Women's Club dance and he says they is plenty of the gals there in low neck and sleeveless dresses and that this exposed epidermis makes a swell feeding ground for the mosquitoes. Hurum says some of the gals' backs and arms looked like they has smallpox.

Cliff Warner used to work for the Perkins Oil Well Cementing Co. here and he traded jobs with a bozo up in Taft and he went to Taft and this other duke comes down here and the first day Cliff gets up to Taft why a guy says it's a lot colder up here than down in Torrance and if you're going to be out in the field tonight you better take your overcoat and Cliff he packs his Benny around the field all night and it never got below 100 all night. And now I guess he wishes he had never of traded jobs with that other gent.

Ben Rappaport has went up to the northwest to meet Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rappaport and when he left he said he was planning to drive them down the coast. The boys here got it pretty straight that when Ben comes back he ain't never going to pay a board bill no more but will slide his feet under a table of his own and a new Mrs. Rappaport's. But they ain't nothing substantial about rumors and for one I don't believe that Ben will ever be harnessed in a team. He's a single-footer, Ben is.
